FINANCE/AUDIT COMMITTEE REPORT

The Finance/Audit Committee (the Audit Committee) of the Board of Directors is composed entirely of three non-employee directors. The Board of Directors has determined that each member of the Audit Committee is independent in accordance with the New York Stock Exchange's listing standards. The responsibilities of the Audit Committee are set forth in its formal written Charter, which was adopted by the full Board of Directors in December 1999 and amended in its entirety in December 2002 and included herein as Appendix A. In general, the Audit Committee assists the Board in fulfilling its responsibility for oversight of the quality and integrity of the accounting, auditing, internal control and financial reporting practices of the Company and such other duties as directed by the Board.

The Company's management is responsible for the Company's financial reporting process, including its system of internal control, and for the preparation of consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. The Company's independent auditors are responsible for auditing those financial statements. The Audit Committee is responsible for monitoring and reviewing these processes. The Audit Committee does not have the duty or responsibility to conduct auditing or accounting reviews or procedures. None of the members of the Audit Committee are employees of the Company and may not be, and may not represent themselves to be or to serve as, accountants or auditors by profession or experts in the fields of accounting or auditing. Therefore, the Audit Committee has relied, without independent verification, on management's representation that the financial statements have been prepared with integrity and objectivity and in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles and on the representations of the independent auditors included in their report on the Company's financial statements.

The oversight performed by the Audit Committee does not provide it with an independent basis to determine that management has maintained appropriate accounting and financial reporting principles or policies, or appropriate internal controls and procedures designed to assure compliance with accounting standards and applicable laws and regulations. Furthermore, the discussions that the Audit Committee has with management and the independent auditors do not assure that the Company's financial statements are presented in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, that the audit of our Company's financial statements has been carried out in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards or that our Company's independent accountants are in fact "independent."

As more fully described in the Charter of the Audit Committee, the Audit Committee is responsible for overseeing the Company's internal controls and financial reporting processes, as well as the independent audit of the Company's financial statements by the Company's independent auditors, Deloitte & Touche LLP. As part of fulfilling its responsibilities, the Audit Committee reviewed and discussed the audited consolidated financial statements for fiscal 2002 with management and discussed those matters required to be discussed by Statement on Auditing Standards No. 61 (Communication with Audit Committees) with the Company's independent auditors. The Audit Committee discussed and considered the independence of Deloitte & Touche LLP with representatives of Deloitte & Touche LLP, reviewing as necessary all relationships and services which might bear on the objectivity of Deloitte & Touche LLP, and received the written disclosures and the letter required by Independence Standards Board Standard No. 1 (Independence Discussions with Audit Committee) from Deloitte & Touche LLP. The Audit Committee provided to Deloitte & Touche LLP full access to the Audit Committee to meet privately with the Audit Committee and Deloitte & Touche LLP was encouraged to discuss any matters they desired with the Audit Committee and the full Board of Directors.

The opinion of Deloitte & Touche LLP is filed separately in the 2002 annual report and should be read in conjunction with the reading of the financial statements.

Based upon the Audit Committee's review and discussions referred to above, the Audit Committee recommended that the Board of Directors include the Company's audited consolidated financial statements in its Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended October 31, 2002, filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Respectfully Submitted by the Finance/Audit Committee of the Company's Board of Directors: Samuel L. Higginbottom, Albert Morrison, Jr. and Dr. Alan Schriesheim.

NOMINATING AND EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION COMMITTEE REPORT

The Committee

The Nominating and Executive Compensation Committee (the "Compensation Committee") consists of Directors who are not current or former employees or officers of the Company or any of its' affiliates. The Compensation Committee generally makes all decisions concerning the Company's executive officers' compensation and all such decisions are reviewed by the full Board, except that decisions about awards under the Company's 1993 and 2002 Stock Option Plan are made by the Stock Option Plan Committee (the "SOC") and are further ratified by the Board.

Compensation Philosophy

In establishing executive compensation, the Compensation Committee seeks to ensure that executive compensation: (i) incentivizes management to increase the Company's income and enhance shareholder value; (ii) aligns stockholder and management interests; (iii) encourages management to focus on the Company's long-term growth, while considering the Company's short-term interests; (iv) attracts and retains a high quality management team; (v) stimulates both entrepreneurial and team objectives by management; and (vi) helps to recruit and retain top managers in a competitive compensation market. The Compensation Committee believes that these objectives are all crucial in building and growing the Company and that the Company has been well served over the long term by ensuring that these objectives are met.

Historically, the Company has refrained from paying large base cash compensation and has paid cash bonuses when the Company recognized quantitative earnings improvements. In 2002, executive officers requested to the Compensation Committee that no regular cash bonuses be paid to them because some of the Company's businesses suffered following the September 11th attacks and because the Company's income did not increase during 2002 compared to 2001. The Compensation Committee accepted this recommendation and did not award regular cash bonuses to executive officers for 2002. The Committee did award the remaining bonuses from the gain on the sale of its former Trilecton Industries, Inc. (Trilectron) subsidiary (discussed in the next paragraph) that were not paid in 2000. The Compensation Committee and the executive officers followed a similar approach in 2001 and in 1999 when, despite continuing record financial performance in 1999 by the Company, no cash bonuses were paid to any of the Company's executive officers.

In 2000, the Company sold Trilectron for a substantial gain. In 2000, the Company paid cash bonuses to the executive officers contingent upon Trilectron's successful and profitable sale, but refrained from paying all of the amounts it reserved for these bonuses until such time as it could finally calculate the total sale gain due to expiration of certain contractual contingencies related to the sale. In the second quarter of fiscal 2002, when the gain became fully calculable, the Compensation Committee paid the balance of these bonus funds to several Company employees, including its executive officers.

Certain executive officers received stock options in 2002, as did numerous other Company employees. The Compensation Committee believes that stock options encourage managers to maximize the Company's stock price by working diligently to increase earnings in order to increase shareholder value. The Compensation Committee also believes that a company's stock price is usually driven by strong earnings and earnings growth and that this philosophy has led to a 303% increase in the Company's Common Stock price from 1992 to 2002, and net earnings improved from a loss of $580,000 to income of $15,226,000 over the same period. In addition, stock options allow the Company to limit its cash compensation by granting such options which are not directly charged to the Company's reported income and which yield profit for officers only when other shareholders benefit. Numerous publicly-held corporations issue stock options to their employees and the Compensation Committee believes that the Company must do so in order to remain competitive in retaining and attracting employees.

Stock option holders do not receive any income or other benefit from their stock options unless all of the Company's shareholders gain from an increase in the Company's stock price above the option exercise price since options are granted at fair market value of the stock on the grant date. If management's efforts do not result in a share price increase, management will not earn potentially sizeable financial gains, and those gains typically represent a substantial income expectation for them.

Relationship to Performance Under Compensation Plans

Compensation paid to the Company's executive officers in 2002, as reflected in the foregoing tables, consisted primarily of base salary, which has not increased since January 2001, payment of the balance of the special bonus from Trilecton's sale, and Company contributions to the HEICO Savings and Investment Plan (the "Savings and Investment Plan"). All employees of the Company and certain subsidiaries are eligible to participate in the Savings and Investment Plan, but, under federal regulations, certain employees of the Company (including Laurans A. Mendelson, Thomas S. Irwin, Eric A. Mendelson, Victor H. Mendelson and James L. Reum) are limited in their participation. Further, all officers listed herein who are eligible to participate in the Savings and Investment Plan contributed a portion of their compensation to the Savings and Investment Plan in order to receive the maximum of the Company's contribution.

The executive officers' base salaries have not been increased since January 2001, or approximately 2 years. The Compensation Committee determines executive officers' base salaries through a variety of means, including by using comparative industry data and evaluating earnings growth.

In paying the remaining bonuses related to the Trilectron sale, the Compensation Committee wished to adhere to its commitments to pay the full bonuses it planned to pay prior to when the sale occurred, as the Company completely earned the gain from Trilectron's sale and it was not reduced due to current business conditions. The Company sold Trilectron for a substantial gain after having grown the business to approximately four times the size it was when HEICO acquired it in 1996. The strategy and its execution for acquiring, growing and selling Trilectron were devised entirely by the executive officers. By sending a clear message to the executive officers that they would receive bonuses upon realizing large gains for the Company, the Compensation Committee believes that it demonstrated to the executive officers that they will be rewarded for making good financial decisions.

In leaving the base salaries of the Company's executive officers unchanged in 2002, the Committee accepted the executive officers recommendation that they not receive increases due to conditions in the airline industry. The Compensation Committee typically considers the following in establishing compensation: prevailing executive compensation trends; compensation analysis reports from Watson Wyatt & Company, an independent consulting firm; consultation with executives; known industry standards; local and national compensation practices; alternative employment opportunities available to executives; industry knowledge and experience; complexity and difficulty of responsibilities; special gains upon asset sales and past and expected future contributions to the Company's development.

The Compensation Committee has observed the current management team for the past decade and has concluded that its compensation policies have appropriately rewarded and incentivized management for its successes and efforts. Although this is the case, the Compensation Committee will review compensation practices during the year and may, depending upon conditions in its businesses and other factors, alter its policies.

Chief Executive Officer

The Compensation Committee considers the Chief Executive Officer's compensation each year. The principal standards which the Compensation Committee considers for the Chief Executive Officer's compensation are essentially the same as those described for the executive officers in general. Also, the Compensation Committee evaluates past performance, the Chief Executive Officer's ability to deliver anticipated results and expected future contributions to the Company's growth. The Committee also accepted Mr. Mendelson's request, made in part as an example of leadership to the Company's Team Members following the tragic events of September 11th, that he receive no regular cash bonus in 2002 and that he receive no increase in his base compensation. Further, the Company has grown dramatically under Mr. Mendelson's leadership; as noted above, the Company's sales increased from $21,729,000 in 1992 to $172,112,000 in 2002, while net earnings improved from a loss of $580,000 to net income of $15,226,000 during the same period.

The Company has prospered substantially under Mr. Mendelson's leadership. Specifically, the Company has expanded its aerospace product line following a restructuring of its aerospace operations, and it has successfully entered and sold two new, profitable lines of business, which grew substantially after their acquisitions by HEICO. Under Mr. Mendelson's leadership, the Company has completed key strategic alliances with three major airlines and twenty important strategic acquisitions, has completed a follow-on stock offering which raised $56 million in equity for the Company and has successfully negotiated a $120 million credit facility with a syndicate of banks.

The Compensation Committee believes it is important to continue to induce Mr. Mendelson to devote substantially all of his professional time and effort to the Company and to forego other potentially lucrative business transactions. In doing so, the Compensation Committee has considered Mr. Mendelson's other successful business activities unrelated to the Company and has provided him incentives to devote attention to HEICO.

Further, the Company's commercial bank has required that the Company retain Mr. Mendelson's services in order to obtain and retain its credit facility. The Company's lender has also required that Mr. Mendelson and his family maintain substantially all of their present ownership position in the Company in order to retain the credit facility. These requirements were made at the lender's sole request as part of the Company's loan agreement with the lender. Accordingly, the Board believes that it is essential to ensure Mr. Mendelson's continued management of the Company by providing him with sufficient incentive to remain as the Company's Chief Executive Officer and to induce him to maintain his significant investment in the Company.

The Compensation Committee believes that equity ownership by management is essential. Accordingly, because Mr. Mendelson has made a substantial equity commitment to the Company, the Compensation Committee believes it should consider this factor in establishing Mr. Mendelson's compensation level.

2002 Stock Option Grants

As discussed previously in this report, the Compensation Committee believes that stock options are an important way to align shareholder and management interests because such options will cause managers to reap economic reward only if other shareholders gain. Further, in order to compete with other, larger corporations and with technology businesses for high-quality acquisitions and management talent, the Compensation Committee understands that the Company must supply its managers with the opportunity to realize large financial gains upon the successful implementation of their goals and objectives. Therefore, the Compensation Committee awarded stock options to certain executive officers, as described in the foregoing tables.

Submitted by the Nominating and Executive Compensation Committee of the Company's Board of Directors: Samuel L. Higginbottom and Albert Morrison, Jr.

Employment Agreements

Thomas S. Irwin and the Company are parties to a key employee termination agreement which provides a lump sum severance payment equal to two years' compensation if his employment is terminated within three years after a change in control of the Company (as defined in the key employee termination agreement).

Performance Graph

The SEC requires that the Company include in this Proxy Statement a line-graph presentation comparing cumulative, five-year shareholder returns on an indexed basis with the NYSE Total Value Index and either a nationally recognized industry standard or an index of peer companies selected by the Company. For purposes of this performance comparison, the Company has selected the Dow Jones Aerospace Index, which is comprised of companies which make air transportation vehicles, major weapons, defense equipment or defense radar systems.

SELECTION OF AUDITORS

The Board typically selects the Company's independent public accounting firm in the month following the Company's annual meeting and negotiates the financial terms of the engagement agreement immediately thereafter. Since 1990, the Board has selected Deloitte & Touche LLP as the Company's independent public accounting firm and has successfully negotiated a fee arrangement acceptable to the Company and Deloitte & Touche. While the Board cannot be certain that it will again select Deloitte & Touche and negotiate a mutually acceptable fee arrangement with them, Deloitte & Touche presently acts as the Company's independent public accounting firm and the Board presently expects to select and sign an engagement agreement with an independent public accounting firm shortly after the 2003 annual meeting.

Deloitte & Touche LLP examined the consolidated financial statements of the Company for each of the Company's fiscal years since 1990. Representatives of Deloitte & Touche are expected to be present at the annual meeting. Such representatives will have an opportunity to make a statement, if they desire to do so, and will be available to answer questions that may be asked by shareholders.

Principal Accounting Firm Fees

In addition to retaining Deloitte & Touche to audit the consolidated financial statements of the Company for the fiscal year ended October 31, 2002, the Company retained Deloitte & Touche LLP, the member firms of Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu, and their respective affiliates (collectively, "Deloitte") and other consulting and accounting firms to provide various services to the Company during fiscal 2002 and expects to continue to do so in the future. The Audit Committee has considered whether the provision of non-audit services by Deloitte is compatible with maintaining the auditor's independence and permissible under the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002.

The aggregate fees billed to the Company by Deloitte for the fiscal year ended October 31, 2002 for these various services is summarized in the table below. Such fees include a provision of approximately $550,000 pursuant to a contingency fee structure with Deloitte who was engaged to represent the Company in a tax audit with the IRS that resulted in the recovery of $2.5 million of income taxes paid in prior years. The Company is contesting the amount of the proposed contingent fee and is currently discussing the matter with Deloitte.

ALL OTHER FEES: for tax return preparation, representing the Company in a tax audit with the IRS, tax consulting on the Company's retirement plans and acquisitions, the audit of the HEICO Savings and Investment Plan and other non-audit services. Role and independence

The Finance/Audit Committee (the Committee) of the Board of Directors (the Board) assists the Board in fulfilling its responsibility for oversight of the quality and integrity of the accounting, auditing, internal control and financial reporting practices of the Company and such other duties as directed by the Board. The membership of the Committee shall consist of at least three directors who are generally knowledgeable in financial and auditing matters, including at least one member with accounting or related financial management expertise. Each member shall be free of any relationship that, in the opinion of the Board, would interfere with his or her individual exercise of independent judgment, and shall meet the director independence requirements for serving on audit committees as set forth in the Corporate Governance Standards of the New York Stock Exchange. The Committee is expected to maintain free and open communication (including private executive sessions at least annually) with the independent auditor and the management of the Company. In discharging this oversight role, the Committee is empowered to investigate any matter brought to its attention with full power to obtain advice and assistance from outside counsel, accounting or other advisors for this purpose. The Committee shall review and reassess the adequacy of this charter annually.

The Board of Directors shall appoint one member of the Committee as chairperson. He or she shall be responsible for leadership of the Committee, including preparing the agenda, presiding over the meetings, making Committee assignments and reporting to the Board. The chairperson will also maintain regular liaison with the CEO, CFO and the lead independent audit partner.

Responsibilities

The Committee's primary responsibilities include:

The independent auditor is ultimately accountable to the Board and the Committee.
- o Obtaining annually from the independent auditor a report describing all relationships between the auditor and the Company and discussing with the auditor any disclosed relationships or services that may impact the objectivity and independence of the auditor and take, or recommend that the Board take, appropriate action to satisfy itself as to the auditor's independence.
- o Overseeing the relationship with the independent auditor, including discussing the nature and rigor of the audit process, receiving and reviewing all audit reports and providing the independent auditor full access to the Committee (and the Board) to report on any and all appropriate matters.
- o Providing guidance and oversight to the internal audit function of the Company, including reviewing the internal audit function's organization, objectivity, responsibilities, plans, results and staffing.
- o Reviewing the annual audited financial statements, including the Company's disclosures under "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" (MD&A), and discussing them with management and the independent auditor. These discussions shall include consideration of the quality of the Company's accounting principles as applied in its financial reporting, including a review of estimates, reserves and accruals, judgmental areas, audit adjustments (whether or not recorded), and other such inquiries as may be appropriate. Based on such review, the Committee shall make its recommendation to the Board as to the inclusion of the Company's audited financial statements in the Company's annual report on Form 10-K.

- o Reviewing the quarterly financial statements, including MD&A, with management and the independent auditor prior to the Company's filing on Form 10-Q. The Committee or its chairperson may perform this review.
- o Discussing with management and the independent auditor the quality and adequacy of and compliance with the Company's internal controls.
- o Reviewing with the independent auditor any audit problems or difficulties and management's response.
- o Discussing with management the status of any legal matters (including pending litigation), taxation matters and other areas of oversight to the legal and compliance area as may be appropriate.
