FINANCE/AUDIT COMMITTEE REPORT

The Finance/Audit Committee of the Board of Directors ("Audit Committee"), composed entirely of three independent directors, met four times in fiscal 2000. The Audit Committee assists the Board in fulfilling its responsibility for oversight of the quality and integrity of the accounting, auditing and reporting practices of the Company and such other duties as directed by the Board. The full responsibilities of the Audit Committee are set forth in its formal written Charter, included herein as Appendix A, which was adopted December 1999. The Charter is reviewed and amended annually and approved by the Board.

In fulfilling its responsibilities, the Audit Committee recommended to the Board, the selection of Deloitte & Touche LLP as the Company's external auditor for fiscal 2000. The Audit Committee:

- o Discussed and considered the independence of Deloitte & Touche LLP, reviewing as necessary all relationships and services which might bear on the objectivity of the auditor;
- o Received written affirmation that the auditor is in fact independent;
- o Discussed the overall audit process, receiving and reviewing all reports;
- o Involved the external auditor in the Audit Committee's review of the Company's financial statements and related reports;
- o And provided to the independent accountant full access to the Audit Committee (and the Board) to report on any and all appropriate matters.

The Audit Committee provided guidance and oversight to the internal audit functions of the Company. The Company's external auditors were afforded the routine opportunity to meet privately with the Audit Committee and were encouraged to discuss any matters they desired.

The Audit Committee also met with selected members of management and the auditors to review fiscal 2000 financial statements, discussing such matters as the quality of earnings, estimates, reserves and accruals, suitability of accounting principles, highly judgmental areas; and audit adjustments whether or not recorded. In addition, the Audit Committee considered the quality and adequacy of the Company's internal controls and the status of pending litigation, taxation matters and other areas of oversight to the financial reporting and audit process that the Audit Committee felt appropriate.

Management's responsibility for financial reporting and the opinion of Deloitte & Touche LLP are filed separately in the 2000 annual report and should be read in conjunction with the reading of the financial statements.

Based upon the Audit Committee's review and discussions referred to above, the Audit Committee recommended that the Board include the Company's audited consolidated financial statements in its Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended October 31, 2000, filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Submitted by the Finance/Audit Committee of the Company's Board of Directors: Jacob T. Carwile, Albert Morrison, Jr. and Dr. Alan Schriesheim.

NOMINATING AND EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION COMMITTEE REPORT

The Committee

The Nominating and Executive Compensation Committee (the "Compensation Committee") of the Board consists exclusively of members of the Board who were not, during the three year term prior to service on the Compensation Committee or during the period of service on the Compensation Committee, granted options under any Company stock option plan. No member of the Compensation Committee is a current or former employee or officer of the Company or any of its' affiliates. Decisions concerning compensation of the Company's executive officers generally are made by the Compensation Committee and all decisions by the Compensation Committee about compensation of the Company's executive officers are reviewed by the full Board, except that decisions about awards under the Company's 1993 Stock Option Plan are made by the Stock Option Plan Committee (the "SOC") and are ratified by the Board.

Compensation Philosophy

In general, the Company's primary objectives in establishing executive compensation are: (i) to incentivize management to increase the Company's income and enhance shareholder value; (ii) to align stockholder and management interests; (iii) to encourage management to focusing on the Company's long-term growth; (iv) to attract a high quality management team; (v) to stimulate both entrepreneurial and team objectives by management; and (vi) to recruit and retain top managers in an increasingly competitive compensation market.

Historically, the Company has refrained from paying large base cash compensation and has paid cash bonuses when the Company recognized quantitative earnings improvements. In 1999, despite continuing record financial performance by the Company, no cash bonuses were paid to any of the Company's executive officers. In 2000, the Company, again, reported record income from continuing operations and the Compensation Committee rewarded the executive officers with cash bonuses contingent upon the sale of the Company's Trilectron subsidiary as discussed below.

Certain executive officers also received stock options in 2000. The Compensation Committee believes that stock options encourage managers to maximize the Company's stock price by working diligently to increase earnings in order to increase shareholder value. The Compensation Committee also believes that a company's stock price is usually driven by strong earnings and earnings growth and that this philosophy has led to a 93% increase in the Company's Common Stock price from fiscal 1996 to fiscal 2000, and an earnings increase, as measured by net income per diluted share, of 94% over the same period. In addition, stock options allow the Company to limit its cash compensation risk by granting such options which are not directly charged to the Company's reported income and which yield profit for officers only when other shareholders benefit. Further, numerous publicly-held corporations issue stock options to their employees and the Compensation Committee believes that the Company must do so in order to remain competitive in the employment markets.

Stock option holders do not receive any income or other benefit from their stock options unless all of the Company's shareholders gain from an increase in the Company's stock price. If management's efforts do not result in a share price increase, management will forego potentially sizeable financial gains, and those gains often represent a substantial income expectation for them.

Relationship to Performance Under Compensation Plans

Compensation paid to the Company's executive officers in 2000, as reflected in the foregoing tables, consisted essentially of base salary, bonuses, and Company contributions to the HEICO Savings and Investment Plan (the "Savings and Investment Plan"). None of the executive officers received bonuses in 1999 despite the Company's record financial performance. All employees of the Company and certain subsidiaries are eligible to participate in the Savings and Investment Plan, but, under Federal regulations, certain employees of the Company (including Laurans A. Mendelson, Thomas S. Irwin, Eric A. Mendelson, Victor H. Mendelson and James L. Reum) are limited in their participation. Further, all officers listed herein who are eligible to participate in the Savings and Investment Plan contributed a portion of their compensation to the Savings and Investment Plan in order to receive the maximum of the Company's contribution.

The Compensation Committee determines executive officers' base salaries through a variety of means, including by using comparative industry data and evaluating earnings growth. In 1999, none of the Company's five executives listed in the Compensation Tables of this Proxy Statement received salary increases or bonuses. Consequently, their cash compensation decreased dramatically. In 2000, the Compensation Committee felt it was important to increase the base compensation levels to those which are comparable to other companies and to award bonuses in connection with the Company's sale of Trilectron.

During 2000, the Company very successfully sold Trilectron for a substantial gain after having grown the business to approximately four times the size it was when HEICO acquired it in 1996. The strategy and its execution for acquiring, growing and selling Trilectron were devised entirely by the executive officers. The Compensation Committee felt that it was critical to reward the executive officers for this success in order to provide continuing incentives to make similar accomplishments. By sending a clear message to the executive officers that they would receive bonuses upon realizing large gains for the Company, the Compensation Committee believes that it has demonstrated to the executive officers that they will be rewarded for making good financial decisions, even though the Company's size, in terms of revenues, might be temporarily reduced from an asset sale.

In addition, the following items are among the major factors which the Compensation Committee considered in establishing base salaries for the Company's executive officers in 2000: prevailing executive compensation trends; compensation analysis reports from an independent consulting firm; consultation with executives; known industry standards; local and national compensation practices; alternative employment opportunities available to executives; industry knowledge and experience; complexity and difficulty of responsibilities; special gains upon asset sales and past and expected future contributions to the Company's development.

The Compensation Committee believes it is crucial to reward management's success in meeting the Company's goals. The Compensation Committee, for example, reviews new product development success because the Company's new product development program is critical to the Company's earnings growth. Because, due in large measure to management's efforts, income from continuing operations increased significantly in 2000 following substantial increases in 1999, 1998, 1997 and 1996, the Compensation Committee felt it was appropriate to reward certain executive officers for this success.

The Compensation Committee has observed the current management team for the past decade and has concluded that the Compensation Committee's bonus policy has appropriately rewarded and incentivized management for its successes and efforts. During the most recent year, management successfully completed two acquisitions and one divestiture after having completed seven acquisitions and successfully implemented important organizational changes in both the Company's Electronic Technologies Group and the Flight Support Group. Both the Electronic Technologies Group's and the Flight Support Group's revenue and income grew substantially in fiscal 2000 after growing in the prior four years.

Although the Compensation Committee believes that its compensation policies stimulate appropriate attention to both long-term growth and short-term considerations, it plans to consistently review compensation practices and may, depending upon conditions in its businesses and other factors, alter its policies.

Chief Executive Officer

The Compensation Committee considers the Chief Executive Officer's compensation each year. The primary standards which the Compensation Committee considers for the Chief Executive Officer's compensation are essentially the same as those described for the executive officers in general. Also, the Compensation Committee assesses past performance, the Chief Executive Officer's ability to deliver predicted results and anticipated future contributions to the Company's growth.

The Company has prospered substantially under Mr. Mendelson's leadership. Specifically, the Company has expanded its aerospace product line following a restructuring of its aerospace operations, and it has successfully entered and sold two new, profitable lines of business, which grew substantially after their acquisitions by HEICO. Under Mr. Mendelson's leadership, the Company has completed a key strategic alliance with a major airline and fourteen significant strategic acquisitions, has completed a follow-on stock offering which raised $56 million in equity for the Company and has successfully negotiated a $120 million credit facility with a syndicate of banks.

The Compensation Committee believes it is important to continue to induce Mr. Mendelson to devote substantially all of his professional time and effort to the Company and to forego other potentially lucrative business transactions. In doing so, the Compensation Committee has considered Mr. Mendelson's other successful business activities unrelated to the Company and has provided incentives to devote attention to HEICO.

Further, the Company's commercial bank has required that the Company retain Mr. Mendelson's services in order to obtain and retain its credit facility. The Company's lender has also required that Mr. Mendelson and his family maintain substantially all of their present ownership position in the Company in order to retain the credit facility. These requirements were made at the lender's sole request as part of the Company's loan agreement with the lender. Accordingly, the Board believes that it is essential to ensure Mr. Mendelson's continued management of the Company by providing him with sufficient incentive to remain as the Company's Chief Executive Officer and to induce him to maintain his significant investment in the Company.

The Compensation Committee believes that equity ownership by management is essential. Accordingly, because Mr. Mendelson has made a substantial equity commitment to the Company, the Compensation Committee believes it should consider this factor in establishing Mr. Mendelson's compensation level.

2000 Stock Option Grants

As discussed previously in this report, the Compensation Committee believes that stock options are an important way to align shareholder and management interests because such options will cause managers to reap economic reward only if other shareholders gain. Further, in order to compete with other, larger corporations and with technology businesses for high-quality acquisitions and management talent, the Compensation Committee understands that the Company must supply its managers with the opportunity to realize large financial gains upon the successful implementation of their goals and objectives. Therefore, the Compensation Committee awarded stock options to certain executive officers, as described in the foregoing tables.

Submitted by the Nominating and Executive Compensation Committee of the Company's Board of Directors: Jacob T. Carwile, Samuel L. Higginbottom, and Guy C. Shafer.

Employment Agreements

Thomas S. Irwin and the Company are parties to a key employee termination agreement which provides a lump sum severance payment equal to two years' compensation if his employment is terminated within three years after a change in control of the Company (as defined in the key employee termination agreement).

Performance Graph

The SEC requires that the Company include in this Proxy Statement a line-graph presentation comparing cumulative, five-year shareholder returns on an indexed basis with the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) Total Value Index and either a nationally recognized industry standard or an index of peer companies selected by the Company. For purposes of this performance comparison, the Company has selected the Dow Jones Aerospace & Defense Group Index, which is comprised of companies which make air transportation vehicles, major weapons, defense equipment or defense radar systems.

SELECTION OF AUDITORS

Such representatives will have an opportunity to make a statement, if they desire to do so, and will be available to answer questions that may be asked by shareholders.
